Notes for contributors (Open Access)

The contribution detailed above will be published in the Journal within an Open Access environment, freely accessible to those who wish to browse, read, print, save, copy, display or further disseminate the contribution including the posting of the contribution on a free website or in an institutional repository, or to alter, transform or build up the contribution to create a derivative work, provided all such uses are non-commercial and include an attribution of the contribution to its author with full details of its title and place of original publication. For the absence of doubt, prohibited uses will include:

- Commercial re-use, defined as the dissemination of the contribution for direct commercial gain in any context other than re-use within a volume of which the Author is editor or author.
- Reproduction of the contribution in a potentially defamatory context or any other context which may reasonably be deemed inappropriate to the reproduction of a scholarly article bearing the imprint of a respectable academic publisher.
- Reproduction in any context which breaches the Author's right of paternity under the relevant Copyright act of Australia.

The Editor will handle requests to re-use the contribution commercially. The Journal allows material to be photocopied within agreed restraints. Any proceeds received from such licenses, together with any proceeds from sales of subsidiary rights in the Journal, directly support its continuing publication. If your contribution includes textual or illustrative material not in your copyright and not covered by fair use / fair dealing, permission must be obtained from the relevant copyright owner (usually the publisher or via the publisher) for the non-exclusive right to reproduce the material worldwide in all forms and media, including electronic publication within an Open Access environment. The relevant permission correspondence should be attached to this form.

The information provided on this form may be held in perpetuity for record purposes. The name(s) and address(es) of the author(s) of the contribution may be reproduced in the journal and provided to print and online indexing and abstracting services and bibliographic databases.
